Will Resume Vaccinations

Fear Not Enough For 2nd Round

WASHINGTON (AP)—Surgeon General Leonard Scheele said Friday night there may be enough Salk vaccine available before the peak of the polio season to complete the second round of inoculations for nine million school children.

Scheele, chief of the U. S. Public Health Service, also told a news conference "It appears quite certain that some vaccine will be released next week," with government approval of additional supplies coming "progressively thereafter."

Dr. James Shannon, associate director of the National Institutes of Health, brightened the immunization picture further with an announcement that, under the newly revised standards for making the vaccine, "We have built into the process a safety factor that was not there before."

The vaccination campaign contemplates a series of three inoculations, or shots, to be given first to the nine million children in the first and second grades. This program is being financed by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

And it is the first two shots in this program that Scheele hopes to see completed by mid-August. The third shot in the series is scheduled for seven months later as a "booster."

The surgeon general indicated the first vaccine to be released next week would come from the stocks of Pitman-Moore Co., Zionsville, Ind., and Wyeth, Inc., Marietta, Pa.

All six manufacturers licensed to make the vaccine had accepted the revised standards in a series of consultations with public health authorities.

Secretary of Welfare Hobby called the agreement a heartening "ray of sunshine." She also took occasion to deny categorically a rumor of high level political intervention on behalf of one vaccine manufacturer whose product has been withdrawn from circulation temporarily.

Eden Starts Job With Attempt To Avert Rail Strike

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Eden, bolstered by a triple majority in the House of Commons by his election victory over labor, plunged straight into the pressing problem of industrial strife Friday night.

He called off plans for a weekend house party in the country celebrating his election victory.

He arranged instead to spend the Whitsun day holiday in London at his official residence at No. 10 Downing Street to deal with a threatened nationwide railway strike called for tomorrow night.

Locomotive engineers and firemen on the nationalized railway are demanding more pay.

At the same time a dock strike in a jurisdictional dispute which has slowed freight handling in four major ports for a week took a turn for the worse when the men refused to endorse their leaders' agreement to call off the walkout.

Eden in a victory statement praised his Conservative party workers and promised to "Get on with the job." The job, he said, was to seek a lasting peace and greater prosperity.

To crushed Laborites, the verdict at the polls looked like proof that they need to end their intra-party feuding and, to some, that the party should move farther to the left. Left-winger Aneurin Bevan's bid for control of the party seemed bolstered.

The electorate spurned Labor's offer of more socialism and a bigger dose of nationalization. Stock market prices soared. The returns toughened the British-American alliance and strengthened Eden's hand for the coming meeting of the Big Four.

"It seems that the country has said to us 'Get on with the job,'" Eden told a gathering of party workers at the Conservatives' central headquarters. Smiling and immaculate in a blue lounge suit, he said "We will do everything in our power to fulfill the trust of the country."

Springfield Man Identifies Boy Deserted Twice

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—An attorney said Friday that a Springfield salesman has identified newspaper photographs of 2-year-old Kenneth Casey as his son.

Kenneth, a winsome looking blond with large blue eyes, came into the news Wednesday when he was turned over to juvenile authorities by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ostler of Chicago.

The Ostlers said the boy's mother left him with them a month ago, saying that she would pay them $18 a week for his room and board. But they said she never paid them anything, and never came back.

Atty. William Fuiten said that Kenneth's father—also named Kenneth—saw a newspaper photograph of the "unwanted" boy and recognized his son.

Fuiten told Police Chief Silver Suarez that it was the first Casey had heard of the boy since March, when the child's mother, Barbara, took him and left their Springfield home.

"He has been trying to locate both the mother and the boy ever since they left," said Fuiten.

In Chicago Thursday, St. Vincent's Infant and Maternity Hospital agreed to take care of the boy while the search for his mother went on.

Mrs. Pearl Sadowski of family court said that offers to adopt the boy already number more than three dozen.

Ike Asks Changes In 1953 Refugee Relief Act

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress Friday to liberalize the 1953 Refugee Relief Act and "reaffirm that the great tradition of sanctuary lives on in America."

He requested 10 changes in the law, which has been criticized frequently as so restrictive as to be self-defeating.

The immediate reaction of some key lawmakers was favorable, but measures to make it easier to admit immigrants to this country have had rough going in Congress in recent years.

The 1953 act authorized the admission of up to 214,000 refugees and other nonquota immigrants before the end of next year. To date slightly over 30,000 visas have been issued and about 22,000 persons actually have entered the country.

Eisenhower said that administrative steps to speed up the program have been taken but that, nonetheless, "the purposes of the act are not being achieved as swiftly as we had all hoped."

Among his recommendations were the reallocation of unused quotas and authority to let voluntary welfare organizations provide the required job and housing assurances for applicants for admission. Under present law only individual Americans can act as sponsors.

Convict Labor Union Organizer For Contempt

WASHINGTON (AP)—John T. Watkins, labor union organizer, was convicted Friday in federal court of contempt of Congress for refusing to answer questions a congressional subcommittee asked about persons he said had left the Communist movement.

Judge Joseph C. McGarraghy of United States District Court said he would meet with attorneys in his chambers next Thursday to discuss Watkins' sentence.

Watkins was an organizer for the CIO United Auto Workers of Rock Island, Ill. He was convicted on a seven count indictment for refusing to answer some questions the House Un-American Activities Committee asked in its 1953-54 hearings on communism.

Watkins testified he never was a card carrying Communist but admitted associating with party members from 1942 to 1947.

In all, eight persons were indicted for contempt in connection with the hearings. A committee aide said refusals to answer questions were based on various grounds, including the fifth amendment, a protection against self-incrimination; the first amendment, guaranteeing free speech and moral or other grounds.

SEEK STORM SURVIVORS — Rescue workers carry a victim from ruined home at Udall, Kansas, after tornado leveled the town. With more than fifty dead counted, and two hundred injured, rescue parties search the rubble for survivors and victims.

Relief Aid Pours In For Tornado Stricken

UDALL, Kan. (AP)—Public and private purses opened generously and strangers worked overtime Friday to restore life to this tornado-destroyed town.

Victim of the worst storm disaster in Kansas history, Udall was left with only one habitable structure — a small residence. Already 73 dead and more than 200 injured had been counted out of a population of 500. An estimated 50 were missing.

The casualties were part of the 113 killed and more than 700 injured in a series of vicious twisters that ripped through Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and Missouri Wednesday night and Thursday. Property damage in the midcontinent area was estimated in the millions.

President Eisenhower, responding to an appeal from Gov. Fred Hall of Kansas, Friday authorized the Civil Defense Administration to use whatever funds are necessary to aid the state's stricken.

The Red Cross, establishing a field headquarters at Arkansas City, Kan., for both Kansas and Oklahoma, reported a quick and generous public response to appeals for funds. Contributions were being received by local chapters in the two states.

Workers from neighboring towns and cities moved in voluntarily to help clear tangled wreckage and set up temporary buildings.

In Blackwell, Okla., where 18 were killed and 500 injured by a tornado that immediately preceded the Udall disaster, most relief work was undertaken by that city's own citizens. It is a much larger community than Udall.

New trouble for Blackwell, however, came Friday from the flooding Oklahoma River that loops the city north and east. It was in the northeast section that the tornado struck. The stream gauged 24.7 feet today, 2.7 feet above flood stage, and was predicted to rise to between 26 and 27 feet. At 27 feet it would flood about 15 blocks, 10 of them in the disaster area.

The full extent of Udall's destruction was measured by Ward Stuber, Winfield, Kan., Red Cross Disaster Committee chairman. He reported 170 homes completely wrecked, 18 so damaged they are not livable and have to be razed; and only one relatively unscathed. Only three business and public buildings were not leveled and these three are unusable.

Mayor Earl B. Rowe expressed fear more bodies would be found as the debris is cleared. He said an estimated 50 residents have not been accounted for and although some of these may be staying with friends or relatives, he believes some are lying dead beneath the ruins.

National Guardsmen were painstakingly checking the town, yard-by-yard, with the aid of hoisting cranes. As they moved along, bulldozers closed in, sweeping up the wreckage.

Peron Signs Two Measures Aimed At Catholicism

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—The government's official bulletin disclosed Friday President Juan D. Peron has signed two measures aimed at restricting the Roman Catholic Church in Argentina.

One sets up machinery for separating church and state by rewriting the constitution. The other cancels tax exemptions for all churches and religious institutions.

The laws were signed Monday, three days after they won overwhelming approval in both houses of Congress dominated by the Peronista party. Congress passed a third measure abolishing Roman Catholic education in public schools which Peron is expected to sign.

The church-state controversy started last November when Peron accused some members of the Catholic clergy of working to undermine his government. The church denied the charge. Since then 55 priests and hundreds of laymen have been arrested and held for brief periods on various charges, including disrespect for Peron.

"HAIRLINE" ESCAPE

CHICAGO (AP)—A school bus carrying 22 children and a train missed a collision Friday by what was described as less than a "hairline."

It occurred at a Milwaukee Railroad crossing in Deerfield, a northern suburb. The bus was loaded with pupils of the Holy Cross school in Deerfield.

Police said witnesses reported the bus driver tried in vain to stop the bus, and then sped across the tracks. John Bolton of Fox Lake, engineer of the three-car suburban train, commented:

"There wasn't a hairline between us—it was that close."

Bluth Convicted In Death Of Mrs. Meighen

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP)—Capt. Marcus F. Bluth, 41, Friday was convicted of second degree manslaughter in the death of Mrs. Helen Meighen. A jury fixed a sentence of 12 months in jail and a fine of $400.

Defense attorneys had the jury polled. Bluth showed little emotion. Judge Elbert Parsons adjourned court until 8 a.m. Saturday, at which time he will impose the sentence fixed by the jury.

Bluth's sister, Mrs. Pearl Geddes, Joliet, Ill., was present, and showed no emotion when the verdict was read.

Bluth's mother, Mrs. Monna Bluth, was not present.

Capt. Patrick Meighen, husband of the dead woman, was not in the courtroom when the verdict was returned.

An appeal bond will be filed. Circuit Court Clerk Mrs. Sarah J. Davis, said.

Parsons allowed Bluth bond of $3,000. Mrs. Meighen was found dead in her apartment Dec. 6 after last being seen alive on a Thanksgiving weekend drinking date with Bluth. They went out together after Bluth helped her husband move into a marital disagreement.

Vaccine Damaged As Refrigerator Controls Fail

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukee's entire supply of Salk anti-polio vaccine—enough to give the two-shot series to 14,000 children—was damaged Friday when controls on a refrigerator failed.

Dr. E. R. Krumbiegel, city health commissioner, said that "There is no question that the potency of the vaccine has been damaged, but we don't know how much."

The city had delayed the start of its inoculation program to permit a pilot program to determine that the vaccine was safe.

Temperature in the refrigerator was 95 degrees this morning when it was opened for a routine check. Parke, Davis & Co., manufacturers of the vaccine, told him, Dr. Krumbiegel said, that five days of 95 degree temperatures would destroy the usefulness of the vaccine. He also said that repair technicians were unable to estimate how long the refrigerating apparatus had been out of order.

The purchase is subject to approval by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Santa Fe Acquires Control Of TP&W

CHICAGO (AP)—The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway Co. announced Friday it has acquired control of the Toledo, Peoria & Western Railroad Co., a strategic beltline for transcontinental freight.

Fred H. Gurley, Santa Fe president, said his line bought 73,800 or 82 per cent of the shares of stock of the T.P. & W. for $9,963,000.

The purchase is subject to approval by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Huge Moving Van Runs Wild, Kills Seven In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A big interstate moving van ran five wild blocks through the heart of San Francisco Friday killing seven persons and injuring three as it crashed and exploded on the sidewalk near the Hall of Justice.

Its brakes gone, the huge yellow Mayflower truck and trailer roared down the steep side of Nob Hill on Clay Street at an estimated 80-miles-an-hour.

It ran miraculously clear for blocks. All the death and damage came in the final block.

It scraped a half block of store fronts and wrecked a dozen automobiles. At least eight, including three police cars, were smashed into junk. Street signs, lights and poles toppled in crazy confusion.

Pedestrians along the sidewalk scattered like startled quail, but some could not escape in time.

The unlucky were crushed beneath the wreckage and splashed with flaming gasoline from the shattering explosion of the truck's fuel tank.

Flames shot an estimated 50 feet high. Shattered windows showered the entire area.

Khrushchev Takes Soviet No. 1 Spot

Report Tito Rejects Wooing Of Red Boss

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—President Tito demanded Friday that Soviet Communist boss Nikita Khrushchev put the Belgrade talks strictly on a governmental plane, an informed source said.

Tito was described as resenting efforts by Khrushchev to woo him through a Communist party line appeal.

Khrushchev's "Dear comrade" approach apparently had misfired and Tito's national communism remains intact, the source said.

Khrushchev holds no office in the Moscow government but Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin is here with him.

The informant said Tito took his first opportunity Friday to reply to Khrushchev's arrival speech of yesterday. Tito was quoted as telling the Moscow delegates he had agreed to their coming to Belgrade on the understanding that the talks would be purely governmental.

But, the informant said, Khrushchev responded to Tito in about the same vein as his speech of Thursday when Tito listened without expression to Khrushchev's appeal to return to the Moscow fold.

Tito, a Croatian peasant's son with a long record of Communist activity, was trained in the same tough school as his Soviet visitors. He presumably saw in Thursday's speech in an effort to lure him back into the Cominform, something he has declared he would never do. Yugoslavia was expelled from the Cominform in 1948.

Informed circles here suspected from the time Khrushchev was named head of the Soviet delegation that the Russians were coming here mainly to persuade the Yugoslav President to give up some of his independence. It was debated that the Russians were actually coming as they said to discuss primarily problem of state.

Race Track Man Owes $2 Million In Back Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP)—William G. "Big Bill" Lias, 400-pound Wheeling, W. Va., race track operator, owes more than two million dollars in back income taxes and penalties, a U. S. tax court judge held Friday.

Judge Clarence P. LeMire fixed $2,012,222 as the amount of taxes and penalties the one-time professional gambler and bootlegger owes for 1942 through 1948. He is liable also, under the ruling, for certain interest charges.

Lias' attorney, Charles J. Margiotti, said in Pittsburgh that the decision is "unfair" and will be fought through the courts. He added:

"They took the net income of the entire Lias family and put it all in one and charged it to Lias himself. This is definitely wrong."

Lias, who had no comment on the judge's findings, contended through the lengthy hearing in 1952 and 1953 that he didn't owe a dime. But, he said, in order to shorten the proceedings and save additional expense he would be willing to settle the case for $1,600,000. The government turned him down. Later he offered $1,200,000. This was turned down, too.

Proposes Age Reduction For Wives, Widows SS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Potter (R-Mich) introduced a bill Friday to reduce from 65 to 60 years the age at which wives and widows may qualify for old age and survivors benefits. His measure also would provide disability benefits under the Social Security law.

Potter's move gave him a jump on House Democratic leaders who had planned to bring up the same general sort of proposal in June.

"Statistics have shown that in this country a man generally marries a woman several years younger than himself," Potter told the Senate. "The present act, however, does not conform with this finding."

The bill provides for payment of disability benefits to persons who are covered by the Social Security Act but are disabled before reaching 65.

In the light of hospital and medical costs, "many life savings are spent in a matter of months when the family breadwinner becomes physically disabled," Potter said.

A six month waiting period would be provided in disability cases and there would be periodic examinations to determine if the recipient still was disabled.

In event the disabled person received workmen's compensation benefits, the amount of Social Security payments would be reduced.

Clock Records U.S. Population At 165 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—A line of blue lights flashed, signaling a birth, at 51 minutes and 51 seconds past 6 a.m. CST Friday, and the "census clock" in the Commerce Department pointed to an American population of 165 million.

The clock had to have a little manual help, and the birth was just a statistical average. But Robert W. Burgess, director of the census Bureau, and a gathering of newsmen and cameramen were on hand for the occasion.

The nation is growing at such a rate that it was less than two years ago — in August, 1953 — that a similar gathering watched the population clock signal 160 million.

By midnight Friday the clock, working mechanically on statistical averages of births, deaths, immigrations and emigrations, will have ticked on to 165,004,545. It records a net addition to the population each 12 seconds. That is 300 an hour, 7,200 a day.

Burgess told the gathering that the nation's population is now increasing at a record numerical rate some 2,800,000 a year.

The "clock" is a large board with a map of the United States into which lines of colored lights run from east, north, west and south. Above the board a cabinet holds a line of large figures, very much like the mileage recorder of an automobile.

Probe Aircraft Makers To See If Profits Excessive

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House Armed Service subcommittee has started an investigation of 11 major aircraft manufacturers to determine if they are making excessive profits on multi-billion dollar government contracts, it was learned Friday.

Subcommittee investigators have begun a check of company books, touching off what qualified informants said would be the most sweeping review of aircraft contracts in at least three years.

The purpose is to determine whether profits are too large or whether there is any hidden profit in funds paid for production costs. Standard aircraft contracts are on a cost-plus-fixed-fee basis.

The informants added that the investigation would cover all major manufacturers holding current contracts for military combat and transport planes. Contracts for developing guided missiles, held also by leading aircraft companies, are not involved.

UAW Calls Top Policy Meeting

DETROIT (AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers, seemingly far from winning their guaranteed annual wage demand, called a top policy meeting Friday night to map further moves on the industry.

Members of the UAW International Executive Board were summoned from around the country to a special meeting.

UAW President Walter Reuther gave no hint as to what action the board might take. Speculation was that the group, composed of the union's top officers and regional directors, would set a policy to follow if the industry remains firm against giving a guaranteed wage.

Brief union sessions with the industry's two biggest producers—General Motors and Ford—produced no announcement results.

Ford and the UAW, faced with a contract expiration deadline Tuesday midnight, recessed until Sunday. GM and the union, with an extra week's grace, put off further talks until Tuesday.

Bulganin Probably Is Second

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, it now appears, will be dealing with Russia's No. 2 man, not its real leader, when he meets Premier Nikolai Bulganin at the Big Four conference this summer.

If there was any doubt remaining in the minds of American experts on who the boss of the Soviet system now is, it was dispelled Friday as they studied reports of the remarkable arrival in Belgrade of a Soviet delegation to visit Marshal Tito.

The conclusion here is that Nikita Khrushchev, leader of the Communist party in the Soviet Union, is Russia's No. 1 man. Bulganin probably ranks No. 2.

Khrushchev is not regarded as a new Stalin, however. Experts in the American government rate him rather as a kind of chairman of the board in the Kremlin set-up. He probably cannot dictate decisions, but must consult with others like Bulganin, Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and similar members of the inner circle.

At Belgrade Thursday Khrushchev was the first of the airplane, preceding Bulganin, although the delegation was going from the Soviet government to the Yugoslav government and the honor of first arrival properly belonged to the Russian premier. Khrushchev also spoke at the airport while Bulganin stood silent. He was clearly the man who was dealing with Tito, and Bulganin was pushed into the background.

U. S. officials said they had expected since Tito is Yugoslavia's Communist party leader as well as its government chief, the Soviet visitors would emphasize the importance of the party relationship which they hope to re-establish.

Nevertheless, the scene in Belgrade has raised a question in the minds of diplomats whether the Soviets in fact attached more real importance to the visit to Tito than to the prospective negotiations with the President of the United States and the prime Ministers of Great Britain and France.

Russia's acceptance Thursday of the Western invitation to the meeting provided fresh evidence of a developing fight between Moscow and Washington over which can roll back the other's power from the heart of Europe.

Russia's acceptance note appeared to be the latest in a series of moves designed to hurt American prestige in Western Europe and compel the withdrawal of American forces across the Atlantic.

TORNADO CARRIES CHECK 50 MILES

EL DORADO, Kan. (AP)—A check and a letter, apparently picked up in the tornado that hit Udall, Kan., were found near here Friday.

The check, on the Udall bank, was found by Clarence McCreight, whose home is about 50 miles from Udall.

A letter addressed to Mrs. Ivan Higgins of Udall was found by Donald Mossman in a pasture three miles south of here.

El Dorado is 35 miles northeast of Udall.

CANADIAN INDUSTRY BOOMS

Everybody knows America's industrial might has been vastly multiplied in the last few decades, especially in the period during and since World War II. We might be surprised to learn that, percentagewise, Canada has done even better.

We have always had the friendliest of relations with Canada. Our mutual trade is heavy, we travel freely there and they repay the compliment. But because the country's population is only one-eleventh of ours, we often tend to undervalue Canadian achievements.

Some time back we did become aware that the Canadian dollar was prized a bit more than its American counterpart.

Now we find that, advanced though we are over our prewar economic state, the Canadians have progressed even more. In the years from 1926 to 1954, we boosted our gross national product (sum of all our output) by 100 per cent. In the same span of years the Canadians increased theirs by 120 per cent.

Congratulations to our northern neighbors for their striking accomplishment. It is a healthy, hopeful sign for them, and it might be a good antidote for smugness here in the United States.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Has the American working girl become too attractive?

Is her eye appeal so irresistible that her male co-workers in office, store or factory have difficulty keeping their minds on their jobs?

Wouldn't it make for more efficiency in the business world if the glamorous working girl were turned back again into a "plain Jane," perhaps by making her wear a standard uniform?

To many of us thoughtful students of the industrial scene the answer to all these questions is a stern and simple "Yes!" In the interest of greater productive output, it is high time we did something to make working girls look nondescript, if not downright repulsive.

Girl watching has become a major disrupting factor in the average firm—so girl watching must go! Let me explain:

Take an ordinary small office. Tittle the typist is dressed as chicly, and made up as prettily, as a Hollywood starlet.

Every time Tittle steps out of the boss's office to go to the water cooler she passes the desk of Walter Beaver, the junior executive.

Walter glances up. His eyes follow her trim figure to the water cooler. They stay with her all the way until she trips back and disappears into the boss's office. So do the eyes of two young male clerks and the old bookkeeper.

What are these four men thinking of? One cannot be sure, of course, but it is reasonable to assume they aren't brooding about how to make more money for their employer. Their minds have been distracted from their tasks. And this doesn't happen once a day. It happens a dozen times—every time Tittle winks by. How often the boss finds his own mind wandering when he looks at Tittle is his own secret. But after all he is human, too.

What happens in this one small office is duplicated in every other business establishment in America.

Just how important a problem is this? Well, from a random sampling of evidence, we have reached the conclusion that 40 million American men spend a half hour on the job each day staring at a pretty working girl. This means that 20 million hours—or 228 years—are frittered away every single working day in this pleasant but nonproductive pastime.

What can be done about it? There is no point in employers pasting signs on a bulletin board saying: "Male employees will cease and desist from looking at the female help during working hours." That won't work.

Girl watching, once a fellow falls into the habit and most fellows do, becomes an unconscious thing. A fellow can't help it.

The real answer is to make the American working girl so unattractive that watching her is no longer fun. Girls never in history looked more unattractive than they did in an old-fashioned gym class a couple of generations ago.

There's your clue, American employers simply should band together and issue a flat rule that all working girls, no matter what their job, should remove all make-up, wear their hair in a bun on top, and don a uniform consisting of flat shoes, black cotton stockings, black bloomers, and a dark blue middie.

The girls might rebel at first, but in time they'd probably learn to enjoy working in such a uniform. They say bloomers are really quite cool and comfortable.

But they aren't much to look at.

Do-It-Yourself Is OK In Workshop But Not When It Comes To Health

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

For some reason or other many people seem to be extremely casual about giving themselves drugs or other preparations without stopping to think that they may be either changing the symptoms of something serious by doing so or actually harming themselves by taking the wrong things.

Q—I have an older sister who has been taking baking soda for indigestion at least once a day. Is there any danger that this could be harmful to the system?

A—The most important point about this inquiry is that Mrs. W.'s sister might have something serious like a stomach ulcer which should be getting more scientific treatment.

The term "indigestion" is vague and meaningless to physicians. Mrs. W. does not say how much baking soda her sister is taking. While in moderate quantities this probably would not produce any harm, in large quantities over a long period of time it could throw the chemical balance of the body out of whack and possibly lead to a condition known as alkalosis.

Q—Please say something about the skin disease known as lichen planus.—Mrs. M. S.

A—Lichen planus is a chronic inflammatory disorder of the skin. Its cause is not definitely known but it sometimes follows nervous exhaustion. The usual treatment is to try to improve the general health and to use various types of medication which will help to protect the skin from irritation and relieve itching if present.

Q—For the past five years I have been bothered with excessive underarm perspiration. When I am relaxed this does not bother me.

A—This is an extremely common complaint in mild cases, which constitute the majority; the commercial antiperspirants obtainable in any drugstore are usually sufficient. Most of these contain the same chemical agent and have proved harmless even when used over a relatively long period of time. In severe cases the problem may require the expert care of a skin specialist.

Q—I have aches in my legs whenever I stand or walk. This goes when I sit or lie down after about two minutes. It began about two months ago. What do you think can be done about this?—T.H.

A—This sounds very much like the disorder known as intermittent claudication. If this is responsible (and the doctor should check you over) it is presumably the result of some hardening of the arteries in the legs, so that when the leg muscles are exercised they do not get the blood they need.

Q—Could there possibly be any connection between the widely promiscuous use of vitamin pills (not under a doctor's prescription) and the increase in cancer in recent years?—Mrs. G.

A—I hold no brief for the unnecessary swallowing of vitamin pills but do not know of any evidence whatsoever that this is related to the increase in cancer.

Great Outdoors—Headaches—Food—Gym—Cow Horns—Slipping Shrimp

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The garden party season is here again. And that can be good or bad depending on whether you like to do your drinking indoors or out.

"This is what I like about garden parties," said a State Department official as he poured the remains of a bourbon and soda into the rose garden at the Finnish embassy the other afternoon. "If you don't like a drink or want to stay sober, it's easier to get rid of it outside," he claimed.

"The big trouble with garden parties is that the hostess is a nervous wreck waiting to see if it will rain," was the reaction of Mme. Johan A. Nykopp, wife of the Finnish ambassador.

And that remark had nothing to do with the fact that she served tender smacks flown in from her country for the affair.

THE H. STRUVE HENSELS — he's an assistant secretary of defense—made a compromise on the garden party last-up the other day. Honoring the new Supreme Court Justice John Marshall Harlan and his wife at a big cocktail "do," they opened their spacious terrace for anyone at the affair who needed fresh air.

Defense Secretary Charles Wilson and Chairman of the Joint Chiefs Adm. Arthur Radford were the first ones to walk outside. "A man who drinks outside never has a headache the next day," Wilson was overheard saying.

INSIDE OR OUT the spring party season and free chow rush is going full blast.

At the opening of the big new Sheraton-Park Hotel ballroom, which hopes to capture all presidential banquet business, 1600 guests consumed, among other things, 1200 pounds of delicious roast beef, 200 pounds of shrimp, 42 cases of booze and 15 gallons of ready-mixed Martinis and Manhattans.

Tab for this blowout was $50,000. Even so, the Pan-American Union did the hotel one better recently when it celebrated its founding with a week of real living it up. Down many hatches went 400 cases of champagne, 350 cases of bourbon and Scotch and 112 turkeys and 112 hams. Samples of headache pills were handed to the late-leaving guests.

UNDERSECRETARY of Commerce Walter Williams turned the department cafeteria into a gymnasium and almost got tossed out on his ear the other day.

He started bouncing two large rubber balls on the table explaining that they had been given to him by a couple of rubber company executives to demonstrate a new type of elasticity in their product. A kind of game developed at the table as everyone tested the balls.

"Look," a cafeteria official said to the group. "If you want to play handball go to the Y.M.C.A. You're supposed to eat here." But he modified his tone considerably when he recognized the No. 2 man of the department was one of the participants.

OFFICIALS at the Commerce Department are now scouring Latin America for lightweight cow horns. It seems there's a shortage of them in this country due to the terrific demand by juvenile Davy Crockett for powder horns.

LeRoy Shane, Inc. of Rochester, Minn., wrote in to the department asking for help on this problem. The firm said it has sold thousands and thousands of these accessories, and had exhausted the supply of junior-size cow horns. Western horns are considered to be too heavy for the kids.

MILITARY VICTORY of the week: Lt. Gen. Lemuel Matthewson, top Pentagon planner, won a deadly skirmish with a shrimp at a reception in honor of Gen. Sir Eric Carden Robert Manserv, commander in chief of the Allied Forces Northern Europe. But he had to call up the reserves.

This shrimp slipped off the toothpick into the chili sauce just as he was about to pop it into his mouth. He chased it around the bowl with the toothpick for several moments when a dainty young lady drifted by and came to his rescue.

"This is the way to handle that maneuver," she told the general. She plucked her hand in the red stuff and fished it out with her fingers.

BILL MAGLIN, Army provost marshal general, has on his desk what he claims is the very latest in peaceful use of atomic energy. It's a name plate sent to him by Col. Andy Russell, who was provost for the troops participating in the recent atomic tests.

Russell stenciled Maglin's name on a board so that the letters were bare wood surrounded by white paint and stuck it on a Yucca plant 1000 yards from the last blast. When the bomb went off it burned the exposed wood.

"But I don't think this will revolutionize the sign business overnight," Maglin says.

In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD — Most of the Hollywood press corps would agree that Henry Fonda is an excellent actor, a fine fellow and a lousy interview.

Fonda himself would be the first to admit the latter. Like many Broadway-trained actors, he does not go along with Hollywood's conception of publicity. Unlike other actors, he resists conforming to the system.

He expressed his ideas with unusual frankness during a break in rehearsals for "Petrified Forest," which he is performing with Humphrey Bogart and Lauren Bacall next Monday over NBC. The play has been done before on TV, but the cast obviously places it in the "spectacular" classification.

"When I first started on Broadway," he related, "I turned down the offers to go to Hollywood. They wanted me to come out at $75 a week or so.

"They offered me big money to do the film version of 'Farmer Takes a Wife,' so I came out. 'Because I was so fascinated by it all, I went along with the publicity routine. But one interview changed all that.

"I came into the publicity department and met a fan magazine writer, a large woman who set her notebooks on a table and said, 'Now my story is called 'The Love Life of Henry Fonda.'

"I was taken aback, but I tried to answer her questions. Finally, I was so appalled that I said, 'I'm sorry, I can't go on with the interview,' and I fled.

"This made the writer so angry that she made up her own story and printed it under my by-line." Fonda was under contract to Walter Warner at the time and the producer agreed with his views about fan publicity. The actor has not done any since.

"It seems to me that it appeals to the lowest segment of the movie public," he observed. "They are the people who crowd around you for autographs, not because they want your signature but because others are doing it.

"Often you are with other people and try to explain that you can't stop — because if you sign one you have to sign them all. Then they start insulting you and using profanity — 'who do you think you are?' 'we made you what you are.' 'Well, if they made me what I am, I'd just as soon quit.'

May 13—Scheele approved release of some batches—after his men had checked the plant—of vaccine made by Parke, Davis & Co., Detroit.

May 15—Scheele gave similar approval to some batches made by Eli Lilly & Co., Indianapolis.

May 18—The health service delayed the release of vaccine by all other manufacturers for "some days." None of it has been released since.

May 24—The health service said all vaccine "already used or released" for use had been found safe with the possible exception of two out of the nine batches made by Cutter.

Scheele said there was "strong presumptive" evidence of a connection between the Cutter vaccine and the polio which developed in some children who received it.

He stopped short of saying positively there was a direct connection. When would the government release more vaccine? Scheele was asked that question May 24. He said he couldn't answer when he'd have information on that.

May 25—The health service laid down new testing standards for manufacturers. At least one of them—an official of the Parke, Davis Co.—said he could not accept the standards as presently written.

Telling Child to Trust What Terrifies Her Is No Comfort

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Indignation is a good emotion. It has such conviction in it that, unlike anger it can act without bluster or violence.

A young mother who signs herself Mrs. O. needs some.

For she has a neighbor who has twice terrorized her three-year-old child. Two months ago, visiting this neighbor, Marilyn was told that she would die, be hidden in a big black hole and have dirt shoveled over her face. It took weeks before Marilyn could accept sleep without screaming.

Dissatisfied with this effect of her news, the neighbor has just given Marilyn some more. Two weeks ago, she convinced Marilyn that mothers of children who won't finish their meals poke the food down their throats with a sharp stick. Now Marilyn has become a feeding problem.

"What would you do in my place?" asks Mrs. O.

Let's put it mildly, I would shackle Marilyn to my belt with a strong chain before I'd permit any more wanderings in the direction of my neighbor.

I would feel such indignation that I'd be able to go on saying "Good morning" to her as though no decision had been made. Both of us would know that it had. Both of us would know that Marilyn and I were through with this neighbor.

Now that Mrs. O. knows what I'd do, let's talk about Marilyn. Why did she return to visit a person who told her that she was destined for a big black hole and dirt on her face?

She didn't wish to. In her own language of bedtime terror, Marilyn expressed great revulsion against whatever it is in the neighbor that delights in making babies scream.

Did anyone soothing her terror of the "big black hole" say, "Hush, Mrs. So-and-So didn't mean to scare you. She loves little girls. She didn't want to hurt you. . . ." Who "comforted" Marilyn out of her revulsion from poison? Who sent her back for more of it by calling it harmless and good?

Whoever did it must not do it again.

A child is endowed with intuition that tells him when he's loved and when he's not. It tells him to approach good and recoil from evil. When, because we prefer not to register that he's run up against hate, we tell him it's harmless and good, we confuse him seriously. For we have said, "What you know is true is not true." And that's more scary than any big black hole.

We cannot comfort Marilyn by telling her to trust what has made her feel helpless. We restore her by telling her never to trust what makes her feel helpless.

It's Always Under the Skin, Yen to Fix Living Room

When a tiny, Texas housewife and mother of two who happens to be a reporter of such industry and courage that she recently won a Pulitzer prize in journalism was asked how she was going to spend the thousand dollars that goes with the honor of the award she said: "I'll have to take a little time to think, but right now I guess it'll go toward fixing up our living room."

Any woman will understand why "fixing up the living room" was Mrs. Caro Brown's first thought when she was asked what she would do with her prize money.

For no woman ever goes for long without wishing she could "fix up the living room."

Living rooms, probably because today they really are living rooms, just don't seem to stay fixed up for long.

Even if a woman is fortunate enough, and few women are, to get a room to looking exactly the way she wants it to, the moment of triumph is short-lived.

PROBLEM ALWAYS WITH US
It is no time at all before the curtains begin to fade, or the walls need re-doing, or the slip cover on the sofa begins to show wear or the carpet starts getting bald spots.

And as soon as a living room begins to get a real and not too attractive lived-in look the woman of the house begins to yearn to "fix it up."

For some the dream of "fixing up the living room" involves calling in a decorator and going whole hog. For others who don't even dare dream of such a luxury it may mean only a new coat of paint or a new rug or some new slip covers.

But big or small, the dream of "fixing up the living room" is almost always with a woman.

That's why given a sudden windfall almost any housewife's immediate response would be, "I could use it to fix up the living room just the way I want it."

Peron Signs Bill To Break Ties Of Church And State

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—President Juan D. Peron has signed a measure setting up the process for amending the Constitution to break the ties between the state and the Roman Catholic Church in Argentina.

Today's issue of the official bulletin showed the law was signed Monday, three days after it won approval in both houses of Congress, where Peronistas have heavy majorities. It calls for elections for a National Assembly to rewrite the Constitution.

Roman Catholicism is now the state religion and the President must be a Catholic. The state now contributes about seven million dollars a year to support Catholic private schools and to pay part of the salary of top church prelates.

Passage of the law was one of the aims of Peron's supporters in the campaign they have waged against the Roman Catholic Church in Argentina since last November.

Congress has also approved measures to cancel tax exemptions of churches and religious organizations, and to discontinue Roman Catholic education in the public schools.

These measures still await the President's signature.

The church-state controversy started when Peron accused some members of the clergy with attempting to undermine his regime. The church denied the charge. Since then more than 50 Roman Catholic priests have been arrested on various charges, including disrespect to Peron.

'HONEST JOHN' AND A-CANNON FIRED IN EUROPE FIRST TIME

GRAFENWOEHR, Germany (AP)—The U. S. Army announced today it has fired its 280mm. atomic cannon and "Honest John" rocket in Europe for the first time. Only conventional warheads were used.

The shooting of the giant gun and the big rocket climaxed a two-day firepower exercise staged by the U. S. 7th Army at the Grafenwoehr training grounds, not far from the Czechoslovak border.

The Americans have 36 of the huge guns and one "Honest John" battalion in Germany. Both gun and rocket can fire conventional or atomic warheads.

RECORD INCREASE IN DOCTORS

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's physician population grew 4,250 in 1954, a record increase. This was reported today by the American Medical Assn. council on medical education and hospitals.

The report said an additional 7,917 physicians were licensed to practice by authorized boards, but that this was offset in part by 3,667 physician deaths. In 1953 the physician population was increased by 3,609.

Hedy Lamarr Tells Of $50,000 Jewels Missing From Home

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Actress Hedy Lamarr spent two hours at police headquarters but detectives said she was too upset to take a lie detector test.

Miss Lamarr had agreed Thursday to be questioned about the disappearance of $50,000 in jewels from her home Tuesday.

Detective B. M. Squires said she was too upset for the polygraph to function properly. Three attempts were made to give her the test, but each was inconclusive.

Earlier, Miss Lamarr's husband, oilman W. Howard Lee, was given a test by Squires. The detective said the test showed Lee was telling the truth when he denied any knowledge of the whereabouts of the jewels.

Polygraph tests also are scheduled for two of the Lee household's employees, Miss Ruby Lee Baker, 40, and Miss Elizabeth Bradford, 49.

Joseph H. Rutledge, an insurance adjuster, advised police yesterday the jewels were missing. He said the disappearance seemed to be "a misplacement here in the house."

The couple reported nothing else in their home had been disturbed.

Interpreting The News

By J. M. ROBERTS

Associated Press News Analyst

People who wonder why Russia's recent campaign of sweetness and light has dispelled so little of the gloom surrounding international relations have only to consider the speech of Nikita Khrushchev at Belgrade.

Standing right beside President Tito, who certainly knows the true story of the Russian-Yugoslav break in 1948, Khrushchev presented an incredibly distorted version. It was one of the most blatant manifestations ever of the Communist way of thinking that, if they say it is so, it is so. Yet these are the same people who want the world to ban atomic bombs and accept their word that they won't violate the agreement.

These are the same people who said that if West Germany was brought into the Western European Union it would mean the end of negotiations for reunification of all Germany, but who now have accepted an invitation to negotiate.

Above all, these are the people who expect their word to mean something in approaching general settlements of East-West tensions.

What happened in 1948 was this: Tito had been a disciple of the Kremlin. He had established a Communist regime, and made almost as much of a show against the West as did Stalin. He was also making a strenuous though badly handicapped effort to build up an industrial economy. Stalin said nuts to that, we'll take your raw materials and fill your consumer needs. Tito said oh, no, you won't, and Stalin read him out of international communism's ranks.

It was Tito who got Stalin's letters covering all of this. But Khrushchev stood there and tried to tell the Yugoslav dictator to his face that it was a couple of dead men, Beria and Abakumov, who actually did it.

In effect, Khrushchev was saying "Let the dead bury their errors. Come back home to international communism and stop flinching with these westerners."

Tito just looked at him, making no reply.

Tugboat Sinks As Children On Barge Float Helplessly

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A tugboat pushing an excursion barge with some 60 school children and 47 parents and teachers aboard sank during a violent wind storm Thursday, leaving the barge drifting helplessly in the Mississippi River off North St. Louis.

Motorboats owned by a nearby boat yard and coast guard vessels rushed to the scene and rescued all the passengers and the tugboat crew.

The pupils of the fifth and sixth grades of community school in suburban Ladue were returning from an excursion when the storm struck.

Capt. Roy L. Barkhau, 51, skipper and owner of the craft, said he saw the storm coming and began to turn for land.

"As I turned the barge, the towboat keeled over and began shipping water," he said. "I saw she was failing to right herself and there was no chance to straighten out."

He sounded the emergency whistle, then leaped aboard the barge. Capt. Barkhau said there was no panic among the children. The cable connecting the barge to the towboat was cut and the group waited patiently, with life jackets on, for the rescue boats.

The brief storm which struck the boat also ripped limbs of trees which in turn broke a number of power and telephone lines in St. Louis and St. Louis County.

Diamond Grove Mausoleum Has Spring Cleaning

Members of the Diamond Grove Mausoleum Association met at the home of the secretary, Mrs. F. J. Blackburn at 604 West College avenue. The session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Roy Newberry.

Following the secretary's report the treasurer accounted for the present status of the endowment fund which is kept in government bonds which the Elliott bank holds in trust. The name of Byron Stewart was unanimously approved to fill the vacancy of vice president, caused by the death of Mrs. C. L. Rice.

A committee was appointed by the president to clean the mausoleum which was completed, on Wednesday, May 25. Repair work, with Fred Runkle as sponsor, will be completed by Memorial Day.

Crypt owners may decorate in the mausoleum but the fresh flowers must be removed at least by one week following Memorial Day. The artificial wreaths and displays may be left for three months only after a body has been entombed and must then be removed. This is a necessary sanitary precaution and must be enforced.

The Mausoleum endowment fund is available for contributions, memorial gifts and remembrances in will from both crypt owners and friends.

Sweet Sixteen

How proud Mother and Dad are of their lovely young graduate. They bask in the glow from her fresh beauty and quite understandably feel a sense of accomplishment. Raising a baby daughter and seeing her attain this threshold is an achievement.

But hold on there, Dad, before you burst with natural pride. What have you given this daughter other than the physical necessities of food and clothing? What have you done about her spiritual needs?

And, Mother, you who have often denied yourself for this beloved girl, what inner endowment have you passed on? Have you enriched her soul with faith and understanding?

How about it, parents of this lovely graduate, have you given your daughter the religious training and habit of regular church attendance that will help her more than all else to meet life's problems with tranquility, to make the most of her promising future?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

MEMORIAL DAY

Remember when only veterans wearing blue or gray uniforms marched down Main Street? Later, as their ranks thinned, younger men in Civil War days are missing. Nevertheless, we can never forget them, nor their sons and grandsons who, when needed, answered their country's call. Remember?

To everyone, regardless of circumstances, we give the same full measure of helpfulness and under the same high standard of service.

Sticks Chief Threat To Nashua In $100,000 Preakness At Pimlico

By GEORGE BOWEN
BALTIMORE (AP)—There is too much race horse named Sticks. He's here at Pimlico, ready to challenge the famed Nashua and seven other three-year-olds Saturday in the $100,000-added Preakness.

A lot of Pimlico railbirds didn't believe it. They swarmed around his barn at old hilltop Friday. They shook their heads over the surprise entry owned by Frank A. Benner and Norman C. Galbraith of Chicago. Around the corner, four groomers provided the only companionship for Belair Stud's Nashua, who has his own special mineral water to drink and probably will leave the starting gate Saturday (4:46 p.m. CST) 4-5 favorite.

Sticks has an insignificant background. The wonder of it all might make a script for movie executive Harry M. Warner.

Warner is on hand with his own Preakness entry, Honey's Alibi. Incidentally, "Honey" is somewhat in the Cinderella class, too, what with young Carlos Gonzales up on his first Preakness entry.

Honey's Alibi is the only California horse in the mile and three-sixteenths race.

Sticks became the sixth of the nine Preakness entries in the same barn. He joined Nashua, Honey's Alibi, Clifford Moore's Traffic Judge, Roslyn Farm's Go Lightly and Everglades Farm's Nance's Lad.

Off by themselves in three other barns were Gee Cohen's Chuck Thompson, Montpelier's Saratoga and Duntreath Farm's Fleet Path.

The odds makers on the day before the hilltop classic had Nashua figured at 4-5, while Saratoga was put in second choice position 5-1, and Traffic Judge 6-1.

Eddie Arcaro will be up on Nashua, while Nick Schuch will pilot Saratoga and Eric Guerin will be on Traffic Judge.

Sticks' trainer, John Wozneski, is only 28 years old and has been training horses for nine years.

It was Wednesday noon in Chicago when Wozneski, Benner and Galbraith finally convinced each other they ought to go to Pimlico's big race for 3-year-olds.

There must have been a lot of soul-searching before the decision. Sticks hasn't even been able to run third in six races this year and has won only $500 in fourth place money. And he is a 30-1 shot Saturday.

Michigan's Net Team Leads Big 10 Matches

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Michigan's favored tennis team took a first-day lead in the opening of Big Ten championship matches Friday at the University of Illinois. Michigan was upset by Northwestern's Al Kuhn.

Kuhn, defending singles champion who had been beaten earlier this season by the 19-year-old sophomore, snapped MacKay's 13-set winning string, 6-8, 8-6, 6-2 in the semifinals.

However, the Wolves took a commanding lead with 35 points while Indiana's defending champions dropped to second with 28 points.

Illinois and Northwestern were tied for third with 25, Wisconsin followed with 21, Purdue 14 1/2, Michigan State 11 1/2, Minnesota 7 1/2, Ohio State 4, Iowa 1.

All but one of the first round doubles matches were played Friday with semi-finals and finals scheduled Saturday along with the singles finals.

Semi-final singles results: No. 1—Al Kuhn, Northwestern, defeated Barry MacKay, Michigan, 6-8, 8-6, 2-6. Warren Mueller, Wisconsin, defeated Dave Brogan, Michigan State, 6-3, 4-6, 6-1.

No. 2—Mark Jaffe, Michigan, defeated Dick Menzel, Michigan State, 6-2, 8-6. Dick Blefeleff, Illinois, defeated Bob Martin, Indiana, 7-5, 8-6.

No. 3—Keith Anderson, Northwestern, defeated Rull Holman, Minnesota, 6-2, 6-0. Fred Most, Illinois, defeated Brad Ward, Purdue, 5-7, 6-4, 6-1.

No. 4—Jim Van Tine, Illinois, defeated Elam Huddleston, Indiana, 6-1, 6-4. Al Mann, Michigan, defeated John Schmitt, Wisconsin, 6-2, 6-2.

No. 5—Carl Dentice, Indiana, defeated Ray Damadian, Wisconsin, 6-3, 6-2. Bob Paley, Michigan, defeated Sanford Astor, Purdue, 6-1, 4-6, 6-4.

No. 6—John Bardit, Purdue, defeated Hal Swanson, Minnesota, 6-1, 6-3. George Fryman, Indiana, defeated Pete Paulus, Michigan, 10-8, 8-6.

In the day's only final event Jerry Heleson of Minnesota won the discus with a throw of 159 feet 8 1/2 inches.

As expected, Michigan, the indoor champion, set a strong qualifying pace in quest of defending champion Illinois' team crown. The Wolverines had 11 qualifiers in the six preliminaries held Friday. Finals in 18 events will be held Saturday afternoon.

Indiana was next with six qualifiers, followed by Iowa and Ohio State with five each; Illinois and Michigan State with four each; Minnesota and Northwestern with three each, and Wisconsin and Purdue with two each.

The track anemometer registered the strongest backing wind when Stevens turned in his sizzling low hurdles effort. The Hawkeye low hurdler was backed by a 6.1 p.m. wind.

However coaches on the field said they doubted the accuracy of the wind measuring device, and a few said they believed the wind was much in excess of the readings announced from the field.

For world record consideration the maximum help allowed from the wind is 4.474 m.p.h.

Golliday had an announced helping wind of 5.7 m.p.m. in the 220 dash. And 4.8 in the 100-yard dash. While Nash was backed by a 5.4 wind in the 100.

Defending champion Ralph Pesenden of Illinois was expected to get a stiff battle in Saturday's 440 final from Indiana's Don Ward, who like Pesenden, was clocked in 48.5.

With considerable strength still to show in Saturday's distance events, the Wolverines got off to an excellent qualifying start with Clarence Stielstra leading the broad jump with 23 feet 5 1/2 inches leap, placing three men in 5th place leap with semifinals, 100-yard dash semifinals and two each in the finals for the 440-yard dash, 880-yard, 220-yard and the broad jump.

Big Ten faculty representatives and athletic directors earlier Friday acted to restore eligibility of two Indiana freshmen basketball players who had been banned from a year's competition for participating in an outside tourney.

Repulski, LaPalme Spark Cardinals' 7-4 Win Over Reds

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Rip Repulski set the pace with a double and a home run as the St. Louis Cardinals regained some badly missed hitting power to hand the Cincinnati Reds a 7-4 defeat in Busch Stadium Friday night. Topnotch relief hurling by Paul LaPalme staved off a Redleg threat in the seventh.

Three other Redbirds also hit twice apiece—all singles. They were Stan Musial, Red Schoendienst and Bill Virdon.

Rookie Luis Arroyo held the visitors scoreless until the sixth when Johnny Temple doubled, took third on Alex Grammas' fumble of Gus Bell's grounder, and scored on a fly by Ted Kluszewski.

In the seventh Hobie Landrith opened with his third homer and the first hit by a visiting player into the rightfield pavilion section previously protected by a screen.

Three singles, one to the infield, and a long fly by Ray Jablonski produced another Cincinnati run in the same frame and a single by Bell drove in Cincinnati's fourth run and sent Arroyo to the showers although he gained his fifth victory against no defeats. LaPalme got Kluszewski to ground out.

The Cardinals jumped ahead in the first with a pair of runs on a single by Musial and Repulski's homer. They added another in the second as Arroyo dropped a single in center, scoring Ken Boyer. A single by Bill Sarni in the third made it 5-0 St. Louis as Schoendienst and Repulski scored.

Rip's double came in the seventh after a walk to Musial. Both runners scored on a single by Wally Moon.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market went through a lot of irregularity Friday and closed mixed. The situation was ascribed to the three-day weekend for the Memorial Day recess Monday when all security and financial markets will be closed.

Prices were higher at the opening, then they sold off a bit, and finally at the close there was a good recovery by aircraft that helped the entire market improve. Prices at the finish were up around 3 points at the outside, with the exception of one or two wide movers, and losses extended to around 2 points.

The Associated Press average of 40 stocks was off 10 cents at $164.90. The mixed nature of the market was shown by the fact that the industrial component was ahead 40 cents while railroads were down 50 cents, and utilities remained unchanged.

The market was rather narrow with 1,164 individual issues traded of which 500 advanced and 424 declined. There were 68 new highs for the year and 12 new lows.

Volume was good at 2,220,000 shares, only 40,000 less than Thursday when the market was higher. The American stock exchange was mixed on volume of 790,000 shares. That compares with 910,000 shares traded Thursday.

New York Bond Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The bond market was narrowly mixed Friday as volume diminished.

"Big Board" sales declined to $3,380,000 par value from $3,900,000 Thursday.

U. S. government bonds were fairly steady. The 40-year 3s rose 3/32 at 100 25-32 bid. Victory loan 2 1/2% of 1967-72 dipped 3/32 at 96 18-32 bid and the 2 1/2% of 1963 lost 1/32 at 98 32-32 bid.

Strength in Peruvian and German dollar bonds nudged the Associated Press average of foreign bonds to a new 1955 high.

GRAINS END DULL WEEK WITH SMALL LOSSES IN TRADING

By WILLIAM FERRIS

CHICAGO (AP)—Grains wound up a dull week with small losses on the Board of Trade Friday.

The market was steady until around midday. At that time wheat started to sag. In the last hour the rest of the list went down. The mild sell off carried all contracts of wheat, corn, oats and rye to their lowest prices of the week.

Lard acted much better than grains. Several lard contracts made their highs for the week. Buying followed news Great Britain had received authorization to obtain three million dollars worth of cash lard.

Wheat closed 1/4-1/4 lower, corn 1/4 to 1 cent lower, oats 1/4-1/2 lower, rye 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher, soybeans 1/4 to 1 cent lower and lard 12 to 23 cents a hundred pounds higher.

In all pits dealings were quite slow as local traders were not inclined to make large commitments prior to a three-day holiday. The market will be closed Monday, Memorial Day.

Renewed weakness in soybeans meal was no help to soybeans. In the cash market bean meal was quoted at $51.50 to $52.00 a ton, another new low for the past five years. Japan purchased 335,000 bushels of soybeans.

Traders noted that, although government loans expire on beans Tuesday, the government will pay the difference between the loan value and the market price to producers who have beans stored in warehouses. About half the beans under loans are in warehouses.

1930—THEY SERVE ALOFT—1955

AIR LINE STEWARDESSES are celebrating their 25th birthday this year, thanks to Ellen Church, a nurse who talked San Francisco executives into hiring girls on planes. Her idea hastened the acceptance of air travel at a time when many people were fearful of flying. Some 10,000 women today make a glamorous career out of serving passengers on planes. Those first eight sky girls earned $110 a month compared to the $190 to $260 base pay that today's stewardesses make for 60 to 65 hours of flying time a month. Those first girls served only coffee and cold food while today's stewardesses serve elaborate meals. Another attraction—hostessing is a path to the altar. Average length of stewardess' service is 27 months.

Death Has 3 Lives

by Brett Halliday Copyright 1955 by Brett Halliday Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Lucy Hamilton, frightened by threats, does not tell Mike Shayne, her boss who is a private detective, that a wounded man named Jack Bristow, has taken refuge in her apartment. When police try to search the apartment, Mike rescues the intruder and forcibly ejects one of them. Then Lucy tells Mike about the fugitive. Mike runs to call the police back.

LUCY didn't lift her head until he returned. There were deep trenches in his gaunt cheeks, and his eyes were cold. He jerked his head in negation and said, "Too late. Sergeant Loftus and his crew have already gone." He strode past her to the bedroom door and turned the knob.

The door did not budge. Shayne turned angrily and demanded, "Did you lock him in?" "No," faltered Lucy. "There's a bolt on the inside. He must have closed it."

Shayne turned and thundered his fist against the door. When this brought no response, he shouted hoarsely, "Unlock the door before I break it down."

He paused and there was complete silence in the apartment. Shayne waited for no more than 10 seconds, then took one step back and crouched a trifle, drove his shoulder against the edge of the door.

Flimsy wood splintered under the impact and the door flew open. Lucy sat motionless on the divan, the back of her hand pressed tightly against her mouth when Shayne implacably stalked inside the dark bedroom.

She realized, now, that she didn't know whether Jack was armed or not.

She heard Shayne's heavy footfalls inside the bedroom. There was nothing for the space of at least half a minute. Then the sound of Shayne's measured tread returning across acting like a college boy. You just said a little delay won't help much." Her voice rose sharply, "Good heavens, Michael, they'd get your license. Drive you out of business in Miami."

"Is my license more important than letting a killer escape?" His voice was remote and cold.

"It's not only you, Michael," she wailed. "They'll nail Chief Gentry to the cross also, because you used his name to send those men away."

She reached one hand up to him imploringly. "Jack Bristow is shot in the stomach and certainly can't get far from here. They had traced him here and must be searching nearby."

SHAYNE disregarded her outstretched hand. He turned on his heel without a word and went back to pick up his drink. Wearily, Lucy dragged herself to her feet and stood watching him, wondering what to say next, how to make him understand that she hadn't really meant to harbor a fugitive, that she had believed Jack when he protested his innocence, that, if she'd had the slightest idea he was involved in anything as serious as murder, she certainly wouldn't have...

Murder! For the first time in the hectic series of events the word actually impinged on her consciousness.

"He isn't, of course," she cried out happily. "There's some mistake. Not Jack. A purse-snatcher or burglary, maybe. But not murder."

"This Jack," he said slowly. "Bristow, was it? How long was he with you, Lucy?"

"Not long. Not more than half an hour before you came."

"What did he tell you to get you to take him in?"

"That he was in trouble and needed time to stay free of the police to avoid being framed for something he hadn't done. I wasn't sure about his innocence at first when I thought it was something minor," she hurried on ingenuously, "but I know he'd never kill anybody. He just isn't the type."

Telephone and power line repair crews continued to move through the city Friday in the wake of a violent spring gale that roughed up the community for a number of hours Thursday afternoon and night. Street department workers joined in the cleanup operations, which extended to all sections of the city.

Heavy damage was experienced by the Illinois Telephone Co. and lines of the City Electric Department and Illinois Power Co. suffered from the storm.

The telephone company and two power companies reported virtually all service restored by 9 p.m. Thursday, but another burst of wind and rain, accompanied by lightning, resulted in further damage later at night.

The storm lashed a wide area through Illinois and Missouri, causing property damage in scores of communities. Seven persons were injured at Springfield, none seriously.

The storm built up over the city through the morning; by noon the overcast was dark and wind came in sharp gusts. Then the squall struck suddenly, and passed on in 15 or 20 minutes. A few drops of rain fell throughout the afternoon, but by supertime the air was still.

Court Room Window At Springfield Blows In; Local Man Injured

A Jacksonville man, Glen Woods of East Independence avenue, received lacerations on one of his hands when a large window blew in at the Sangamon county court house in Springfield Thursday afternoon during a violent windstorm.

Twelve jurors hearing a damage suit brought by Woods and his son against the City of Springfield, narrowly escaped injury when the big plate glass window on the second floor of the court house collapsed. The jurors had just vacated the jury box, which was littered by pieces of glass.

The flying glass, a quarter of an inch thick, gouged chunks from the wooden sidewalls of the box and from seats which had been occupied by the jurors a few moments before. Woods was nicked by the flying fragments in the front of the court room. He was given first aid by a physician who had been testifying at the trial, and was later treated at St. John's hospital.

Woods has brought a $140,000 suit against the city of Springfield in his own name and in behalf of his minor son, Orville R. Woods, for injuries the boy received two years ago when blown by flaming oil from an oil flare street marker.

Trial of the suit had gotten underway during the morning. When the storm blew up Thursday afternoon Judge DeWitt Crow recessed court and sent the jurors to the jury room. Before they reached the room at the rear of the courthouse, the window pane blew in, throwing crushed glass as far as the courtroom doors and covering the jury box. Some of the glass fragments were eight inches across. Woods was injured by flying glass as he sat at the counsel table with his attorneys.

Following the incident, Judge Crow dismissed court until 8 a.m. Friday.

Attorney Harry G. Story of this city, one of Woods' attorneys, narrowly escaped being hit by the barrage of glass. Maurice Kepner of Springfield also represents Woods. The City of Springfield, defending the suit, is represented by City Attorney Carl Meyer and assistants John Sheehan and Nicholas Clacchio.

To Name Watchdog Group To Watch St. Louis Funds

ST. LOUIS (P)—Mayor Raymond R. Tucker said Friday he will appoint a "watchdog" citizens committee to supervise expenditure of bond funds for a fast start on the largest public improvements program in the city's history.

A proposed $110,639,000 bond issue for civic improvements and a school improvements issue of $16,395,000 both received overwhelming support from the voters Thursday in a record special election turnout of 142,000.

The $110 million dollars in city funds will be supplemented by an estimated $59 million dollars contributed by federal and state governments and private capital.

Supporters of the bond issue estimated that $350,000,000 will be invested by private capital in construction of housing, industrial and commercial projects in slum-cleared areas.

Federal and state funds will be divided as follows: $75,000,000 for expressways, $20,000,000 for slum clearance, $1,265,000 for health centers and $12,880,000 for flood control, the last being contingent on congressional approval.

Mayor Tucker said work could begin this summer on some improvements for which plans already have been completed. On that list are streets, parks, playgrounds, bridges, viaducts and modernization of the fire department.

PLUNGE FROM WINDOW IN HOSPITAL FATAL

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (P)—An Illinois woman died Friday afternoon of injuries suffered earlier in the day in a plunge from a fourth-story window of Union Hospital here.

The victim, Mrs. Gladys Cooley, 50, Charleston, Ill., suffered a skull fracture and pelvic injuries early Friday in the fall to the pavement outside the hospital building. She had been a patient there since May 16.

No one was with Mrs. Cooley at the time she either jumped or fell, but a hospital employee, Abraham Stoll of Terre Haute, witnessed the fall from outside the building. A window screen was knocked out and fell with the woman.

Hospital authorities said Mrs. Cooley was operated on a week ago, but did not disclose the nature of the operation or of her illness. She is survived by her husband, Wilbur Cooley of Charleston.

14 Girl Scouts Earn Money For Trip To Europe

MIDLAND, Tex. (P)—Baby sitting, cake baking and weaving Christmas wreaths paid off $17,766.66 for 14 Girl Scouts who vowed it was "Europe or bust."

June 10, members of Troop 13 of this west Texas oil center will prove their dream didn't bust. They'll sail for Europe and a 69-day tour of nine countries.

The girls decided three years ago they'd save up for a trip to Europe. They opened an account with a $10 deposit on May 19, 1952.

From that day on, the 14 girls look every chore they could to tighten the account. Individually, they chipped in baby sitting fees and commissions from magazine sales. Collectively, they staged spaghetti suppers, catered at dinners, sold soda pop, handled target ejectors at regional sheet meets, wove Christmas wreaths, and baked cakes.

Ask Thief Return Tape Recorder Of Heart Beats

NEW YORK (P)—A tape recorder with an eerie but invaluable collection of heart beats was stolen Friday from a Park Avenue specialists' office. The research data had taken 10 years to collect.

The thief, if he plays the tape, will hear something resembling drum beats. But to the trained ear the tape holds an irreplaceable record of heart sounds, some from hearts that long since ceased to beat.

So important was the data that the Medical Society for the County of New York issued this public plea to the thief who invaded Dr. Arthur A. Briskier's office: "An unsuspecting burglar may be the cause of a serious setback in the worldwide battle against heart disease. Ten years of intensive work in cardiovascular research may be whisked into oblivion if the person who stole a tape recorder and reels of the tape from a physician's office carelessly discards or destroys the tapes."

"These tapes are irreplaceable records of heart sounds and murmurs of congenital or acquired cardiac conditions—rheumatic hearts, blue babies and the heartbeats of unborn children."

The society said the tapes have proven invaluable in education and research.

Sees Export Trade, Surpluses, Wheat Farmers' Problem

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (P)—A record 1 billion bushel surplus and a toughening competition for export trade is giving the American wheat farmer his biggest headache. Secretary of Agriculture Benson said Friday night.

In a speech prepared for Kansas Wheat Field Day, Benson said we must meet the world wheat competition on a price, quality and promotional basis or accept a more limited market. And this market, he added, can be maintained only through continuing and "perhaps increasingly larger government subsidies."

Current wheat exports are maintained only through subsidies which have been averaging 80 cents a bushel and costing about $200 million in a year.

Benson said he "heartily applauded the broad and constructive program by Kansas Wheat Improvement Assn. to improve the quality of wheat in this area"—the nation's largest wheat producer.

Of the huge surplus, almost all of which the government owns, at a cost of 2.6 billion dollars and a storage cost of $200 million a year, Benson declared: "Farmers in this area are painfully aware of the 55 million acre limitation on the 1955 wheat production, the maximum which could be proclaimed under the law with existing supplies."

But even with this cutback, Benson estimated the wheat carry-over a year from now will be in the neighborhood of 950 million bushels.
